

Scenario- Ice Storm... Power Outage

- One hour into a very cold snowy Monday, the electrical power goes out at your school. You, the school principal start by immediately calling the electric company. You are told that because of ice on the roads there was an accident and a main line transformer has been struck and is out of service causing a electrical grid to go down. The area of the outage includes several schools and a hospital. You call the district office to discuss the situation and are told that there are 4 elementary and 2 secondary schools that have been affected by the outage.
- Also there are plans to dismiss all schools early due to ice/snow covered roads. The building temperature is beginning to fall fairly fast because it is early on Monday and the heat has been turned down over the weekend. The restrooms have no emergency lights in them and most don't have windows. There are concerns about water and lunch cannot be served.
